

DEVIL'S TRIANGLE

I Am Mahan

Written by Blake Casselman & B.C. Hailes
Illustrated by B.C. Hailes

I have preserved the Covenant.

Irad, son of Enoch, whom I took into my confidence...he swore to keep the great secret in the darkness where it has remained since the days of Father Cain.

He spilled his own blood in making the oath.

And now, because he witnessed those secret works carried out, he sought to reveal them to the Sons of Adam...betrayed the bond of trust we had brokered between us.

And for that very purpose was I forced to kill him.

Lamech?
Wh--?

Husband, you return from the hunt early?

Adah...
Zillah...

I return because of a... pressing matter.

Is that not Irada, the son of Enoch?

What is this great evil
you bring upon our house, Husband?

KRASHH!

You seek to bring the judgment of Father Adam's
God down upon us?

If Father Cain is avenged seven-fold for killing his brother, Abel...

Truly, I shall be seventy and seven fold. Cain murdered to get gain. I take a life to preserve that which is secret.

A curse shall come upon this house!

What are you saying, Husband?

That I am a keeper of all great works done in darkness.

That I am
Master Mahan.

The next morning.

You thought the women you took unto yourself for wives were loyal.

...“You will surely die.”

Mahan.

That name no longer means anything to me.

Ah, but it means everything to me.

AAHHH!

It is my whole purpose for doing this.

Come my friend, and you will obtain what you desire most above all else.

I desire... revenge.

And you shall have it.

For I have dominion upon the many waters. There, we will have free reign to take the bodies of the living unto ourselves.

Come, Master Mahan, and we will continue our secret works together.

Mahan's Story Continues in the Graphic Novel Series,
DEVIL'S TRIANGLE
ON SALE NOW at HailesArt.com